

On December 2006 we held the Fifth Minerva Workshop. The topic was "The 5th Minerva Workshop on Decision Making" and the meeting took place at Bloomfield building, Faculty of Industrial Engineering, Technion

Below is the program of the Workshop:

The Minerva Workshop Series

The 5th Minerva Workshop on Decision Making

Blumfield 526

11:00-11:30	Risk attitude in small timesaving decisions	Nira Munichor
Long Break

Blumfield 527

15:00-15:30	Robust-satisficing and the probability of survival	Yakov Ben-Haim
15:30-16:00	Acute drug effects on motivational and cognitive processes involved in repeated choice behavior	Eldad Yechiam
16:00-16:15	Inequity aversion: A social utility or a reasonable strategy?	Gilly Koritzky
Break
16:30-17:00	Diversity-seeking in gains and diversity-aversion in losses.	Shahar Ayal
16:00-17:30	The effect of losses in decisions from description and from experience	Eyal Ert
Pizza Break
18:00-18:30	the partial reinforcement extinction effect: boundaries and implications	Guy Hochman
18:30-19:00	On the psychological	Ido Erev

		impact of rare events
	19:00
Posters		The weakness of the noncompensatory assumptions as a processes' descriptive model: Challenging the "priority" and the "take the best" heuristics	Guy Hochman and Shahar Ayal
		On the origin of the loss aversion hypothesis	Eyal Ert and Ido Erev